

S. Develops Atomic Shells, Missiles

Washington, June 2 (AP)—The United States has developed atomic shells and atomic warheads for guided missiles, it was announced today.

One of the revolutionary weapons in the wake of defense secretary Johnson's report to President Truman on March 31 that the country is developing a variety of new atomic missiles which have tactical as well as strategic significance.

It means they can be used against troops in the field as well as against industrial targets.

Parts of the new weapons are being developed by the Army's Atlantic pact military planning group, and the Navy's new confidence that Western Europe can be made secure against aggression without bank on the United States and its allies.

Atlantic pact planners do not believe that strengthened land and tactical air forces in Europe are essential to force the enemy army, in case it attacks, to concentrate in mass formations, thus be vulnerable to atomic weapons.

Atlantic pact military planners feared that the absence of military strength in Western Europe may invite Soviet attack a year from now — unless the U. S. is filled in the meantime.

They say that an attacking Russian army could defend itself against atomic attack by dispersing its forces, and by concentrating 100 yards apart, they could walk entirely across Europe without prohibitive losses if only by atomic weapons.

The combination of tactical atomic weapons and stronger conventional forces are expected to lick the problem.

Stuttgart Asks Help With City's Auto Traffic

Little Rock, June 2 (AP)—Business and civic leaders of Stuttgart today appealed to the Arkansas state legislature to help with the city's main street.

A delegation headed by State Sen. Grover C. Carnes appeared before the commission this morning to ask for relocation of state highways 11 and 30.

Senator Carnes said there is so much traffic in Stuttgart now "we can't take care of our own cars." He said the load of three main highways.

He explained that three state highways now pass through the heart of Stuttgart's business district. Heard members of the delegation asked in highways 11 and 30 be relocated west of the city.

The commission today was to award bids on relocating of highway 79, the third route which passes through Stuttgart.

Carnes said that, by rerouting the highways, motorists will avoid numerous traffic hazards including railroad crossings, traffic lights and the congestion of local motorists.

He said the plan has the approval of all business men in Stuttgart. J.B. Lambert told the delegation that engineers will look into the possibility of relocating the roads.

He promised serious consideration of the proposal.

Barkley Gets Medal for Public Service

Washington, June 2 (AP)—A gold medal that congress voted vice president Barkley for "distinguished public service" was presented to the "veep" today.

President Truman gave it to him at a White House ceremony attended by members of the supreme court, the cabinet and many members of the senate.

Beaming, Mr. Truman said he didn't believe he "ever had a privilege I appreciated more."

DOROTHY DIX Table Manners

Dear Miss Dix: Should children always be criticized about their table manners? Should they not be able to let down at home so as to enjoy a meal. I can remember in our home that many a wretched meal, laboriously prepared by Mother, was spoiled by the constant nagging of Dad about our manners. Home should be a place where you can be yourself and enjoy whatever you wish in any way you may. It does seem funny that such a trifling thing as table manners should mean so much to some people. Such a small matter as making a sandwich at the home dinner table has all but caused a revolution in our family.

BOB JR.
Answer: I agree with you that home should be a place for rest and relaxation where we are entitled to drop many of the ceremonial conventions we observe with strangers, but that does not mean that we can do away with the decencies of life, or are free to do the things that get on other people's nerves. In fact, just because we are brought in daily contact with the members of our own families it is the more necessary for us to watch our step and make ourselves attractive to them.

Can Be Important
And this matter of table etiquette cuts a much larger figure in life than you would suppose. You would be amazed at the number of letters I get from women who are on the verge of divorce because they have got to the point where they think they will commit murder if they have to watch the sloppy way their husbands eat another time, and from men who say they are married to perfectly good wives, but they can't stand them because they make a hissing sound when they drink their coffee of a morning.

Of course, you resent being nagged about your table manners by your father. Doubtless he is worn out nagging and would be only too glad to quit. It is unfortunate that parents have to nag, but it is only by telling children thousands of times not to do this, and to do the other thing, that training soaks in somehow to teach them good manners and make them ladies and gentlemen.

Dear Miss Dix: I have been married eight years. Have two children, a girl of 8 and a boy of 2. My husband is sensible. Makes a oring Barkley who served in congress — house or senate — for 25 years before his election as vice president in 1948.

One side bears a likeness of Barkley. On the other side is an American eagle and the inscription, "In recognition of distinguished public service."

The 72-year-old Barkley was pleased and embarrassed as a small boy in accepting it.

"I still do not know why they did it," he said.

"It is difficult for me to point out any specific thing I have done on which this action was based. I presume it represented a reward for the accumulation of work in congress. I am bound to presume that, else congress wouldn't have done what it did. I appreciate the sentiment more than the gold included in this medal."

He said he would always treasure the medal and would pass it on to his children and grandchildren. "I hope to the third and fourth generation."

Mr. Truman invited Chief Justice Vinson to explain why the medal was voted.

Vinson said it was a "sweet recognition of a great man's work."

fair living. Doesn't drink, gamble or flirt. Is devoted to the children. We have a nice home and he stays home most of the time.

The trouble is I am careless by nature and my husband is very exact and punctual. He has tried to teach me to be careful, but no matter how hard I try I simply can't do it. At my first sign of carelessness my husband starts picking on me. He scolds me. In suits me, calls me names and has got me so miserable that I am seriously thinking of leaving him.

The only thing that keeps me with him is the children. If not for these arguments we would have been as happy a couple as could be found, but when he begins insulting me I actually go crazy. Would you advise me to leave him.

THIRTY ONE
Answer: You say you have tried to cure yourself of your carelessness, but you haven't tried hard enough. You haven't put your whole determination into it. You haven't brought every bit of will power you have to bear on it. You haven't used your brains in figuring out ways to outwit your personal devil and get the better of him.

You will commit a crime against your children if you deprive them of a good home and a good father because you resented his scolding you for your sloppiness. And remember that when you try to support your children you will find that employers are not more tolerant of carelessness than your husband is, and that it will be just as much a bar to your success in business as it is to your success in matrimony.

Of course, nobody likes to be scolded, but if you will try to correct your carelessness your husband will be so pleased he will meet you halfway and try to encourage you, and you will get past on the back instead of the hammer.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have a son who has been out of college a year. He is very anxious to get a job and someone has offered him, but it will take him out of town. However, as I am not very well I have talked him out of taking it. I would turn my business over to him, but I don't want him to be in it, as it has very little money in it any more. I give him a good home, clothes and spending money but he is very dissatisfied.

WORRIED FATHER
Answer: Either let him go out and get a job with some one else or else turn your business over to him. It may be that his young energy would put fresh vim into it and make it a success. You are being very selfish to your son in trying to keep him tied to you and refusing him his chance in the world.

Atlantic Union Convention Is Proposed
Washington, June 2 (UP)—Advocates of Atlantic Union planned to spend today buttonholing senators and congressmen urging immediate action to call a convention of North Atlantic Democratic nations.

Delegates to a two-day Atlantic Union committee session sought approval of a resolution by Sen. Estes Kefauver, (D-Tenn.), for a federation of Atlantic nations.

At work sessions, the delegates munity mobilization" techniques to arouse grass-roots sentiment for the proposal.

The convention is to conclude leading backers of Atlantic union, former Undersecretary of State scientist Dr. Harold C. Urey, are to speak at the dinner.

Five high-school age boys from Memphis, Tenn., members of the nation's only junior Atlantic Union chapter, are among the most active delegates.

Manua Loa shot a smoke cloud 30,000 feet up.

"It looked like an atomic explosion mushroom," said Gilbert B. Blackmore. "We could hear pieces of a hat was probably ash hitting against the plane."

The main lava flow was long with branches running off the side. Some of the branches appeared to be longer than the main flow."

Blackmore said the main flow was two miles wide.

The flow was on the south side." Blackmore said. "Fire was shooting up high from the mountain. The flow looked like a saw tooth."

Honolulu, June 2 (UP)—Flaming lava shot from famed Manua Loa volcano today, slithered 15 miles across Hawaii island and plunged steaming into the Pacific ocean.

The bubbling molten rock swept across the island's main arterial highway near Hoonaka village, jamming traffic for miles, but caused no casualties. No towns or villages were in its path.

The island's main town of Hilo, 200 miles southeast of Honolulu, is on the opposite side of Hawaii.

The violent eruption began last night from a single crater about 200 feet below the summit of Manua Loa. It sent smoke and flames 20,000 feet into the air and its glow was clearly visible in Honolulu.

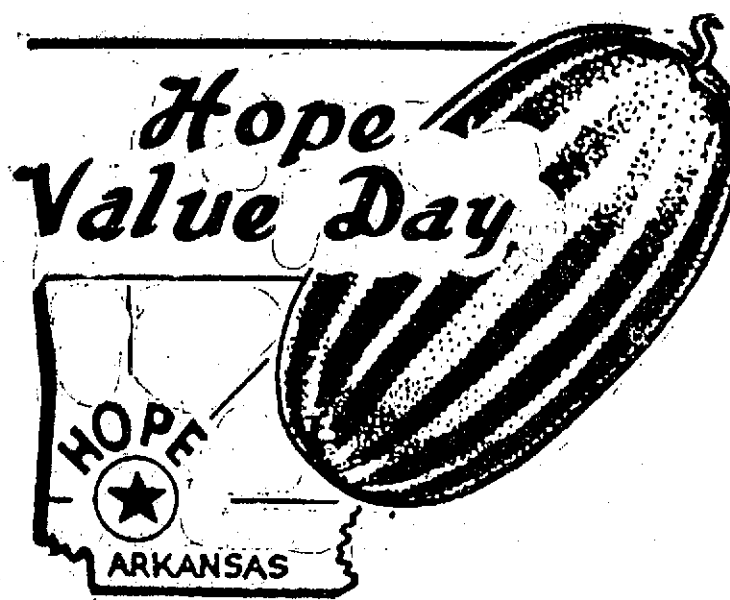

A dozen streams of lava rolled down the volcano's southwest slope, giving off flames 20 feet high that turned night into day. The flow steadily gained momentum and seemed to be moving at more than five miles an hour when it hit the Pacific.

Geysers of steam shot nearly a mile into the sky along the Kona coast as the boiling steam rolled into the ocean.

A description of the lava flow was brought to Honolulu by Capt. G. B. Blackmore, a Pan American Airlines pilot who was making a test flight when he noticed the bright glow while still 75 miles from Hawaii.

Blackmore said he was a column of smoke and flame shooting 20,000 feet into the air. Circling over the area, he said, he saw the lava flows. He said they appeared to be moving "very slowly" and that he couldn't estimate their rate of flow.

Queen Anne's lace and daisies in lovely milkglass containers, on the porch and in the living room.

The club presented Mrs. Wilson with a sterling silver Bon Bon dish of her chosen pattern, and a corsage of gardenias.

In the dining room, a beautiful amber colored epergne filled with gardenias entered the refreshment table. This arrangement was flanked by gardenias in amber vases. Gold place mats and napkins were used on the table. The buffet was adorned with milk glass containers of Talisman rose.

Mrs. B. C. Hyatt, outgoing president, and Mrs. Oliver Adams, incoming president, presided in the dining room assisted by Mrs. Edwin Stewart, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Jack Gardner, and Mrs. Clyde Monts.

Twenty members were present for the occasion.

Mrs. O. A. Graves Entertains Members of Sunday S. Class. Mrs. O. A. Graves entertained members of the Jett H. Graves Sunday school class of the First Methodist church with a lovely party last evening.

Each guest entering was presented a pretty artificial flower by Mrs. Hollis Luck, and pinned on by Mrs. Blair Shuford.

Many clever contests were played and those winning prizes were: Mrs. Charles Wylie, Mrs. John Keck, Miss Edith Massey, Mrs. Elmer Brown, Mrs. Blair Shuford, Mrs. Curtis Moran and Mrs. Jewell Cox.

The hostess presented Miss Edith Massey, assistant teacher, who is going away to college for the summer, with a lovely remembrance gift.

Twenty-six members were served a dessert course by Mrs. Graves.

UDC Meets in Memorial Building

The Pat Cleburne chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy met at 12 noon Thursday in the Memorial building in Washington, Ark. for the annual June meeting. Hostesses were Mrs. Elizabeth Horton, Miss Alma Hannah, Mrs. Ben F. Goodlett, and Mrs. R. E. Jackson.

The building was beautifully decorated with floor baskets of hydrangeas, and coral colored gladioli. The building had just been screened by W. H. Etter, chairman of the Wartime Capital building of Washington.

Mrs. C. S. Lowthorpe, president, presided over the meeting, and introduced Reverend W. C. Lewis, who gave the invocation. Lunch was served buffet style and members and guests were seated at quartet tables.

Guests were introduced as follows: Mr. Lowthorpe, Master Don Ellen of DeQueen, and Mesdames: LaKe Monroe, C. C. Bryant, Evelyn Timberlake, Blanch Tollett, Arch Moore, W. P. Hardegree, Vincent Foster, Brents McPherson, Henry Taylor and Mattie Wilson.

Mrs. J. W. Branch, program chairman, presented Mrs. R. E. Jackson, who gave excerpts from "The Proud Way" by Shirley Seifert, and told of the life of Jefferson Davis, in her most charming manner.

Mrs. Wm. P. Hardegree at the organ played Southern airs and forty members and guests sang at the conclusion of the program.

Girl Scout Troop Four Presented Flag. Girl Scout Troop No. 4, Mrs. E. L. Archer, Jr., leader, was entertained by their sponsor, the VFW, with a welner roast yesterday at the Hut.

Auxiliary supervisors were Mrs. Lee Willis, Mrs. Owen Hollis, Mrs. Hinton Davis. Mrs. John Keck presented the troop a flag in behalf of the sponsors. It was accepted by Mary Horton, troop president.

The program besides the flag presentation included a lecture on the history of the flag. Many pictures were made at this meeting.

Those attending were: Loreta Munn, Vivian Tonnemaker, Patsy Bright, Mary Horton, Fernel Hartsfield, Margaret Ann Archer, Jennie Herndon, Dona Jean Kennedy, and Ann Adams.

Smith-Bowlin Nuptials Read in Church Ceremony. Miss LaVeta Geneva Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Smith of this city, and Frank Alton Bowlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Bowlin of Jonesboro were united in marriage in an impressive single ring ceremony at eight o'clock Thursday evening in the Shover Springs Baptist church.

The Reverend Willis Moore of Greenwood, officiated before the altar decorated with Gardenias and flanked by baskets of Hydrangeas.

Nuptial music was played by Mrs. J. M. McWilliams. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. McWilliams played Traumerel by Schumann, Love Divine, All Love and Excellence by Zundel. The traditional wedding marches were played for processional and recessional.

The bride wore a white shark-skin dress fashioned with Peter Pan collar, short cap sleeves with flower applique on collar and skirt. Her white lace straw hat was trimmed in navy, and she wore white short gloves and white pumps. A corsage of pink feathered carnations was pinned at her shoulder.

Miss Patricia Falls of Pottsville was the bride's maid of honor and only attendant. She chose a navy and white nylon dress with white and navy accessories. Her flowers were white feathered carnations.

Monroe Barrett of Jonesboro, was the bridegroom's best man and ushers were Alton Wayne England and Travis England.

Mrs. Smith chose for her daughters wedding, a navy sheer dress with natural colored straw hat, and black accessories. Her corsage was pink rosebuds.

Following the ceremony, the bridal couple received the guests in the vestibule of the church, after which they left for their wedding trip. They will make their home in Fort Sill, Oklahoma where Mr. Bowlin will serve as Second Lieutenant with the armed forces.

Among out of town guests at the wedding were: Miss Ada Mae Perry of Blevins, Miss Billie Jo Hulsey, Washington; Miss Ema Louise Downs, Columbus; Miss Ellen Kinsey, Texarkana; Dick Venters, and Thelma Harper of Eudora; Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Smittle and sons, Burrel and Robert of Patmos, Mr. and Mrs. Tom England and children, Peggy Ann and Larry of Texarkana.

Eye Doctors Deny 'Fee' Splitting

Little Rock, June 2—(P)—Thirteen Little Rock eye specialists and an optical equipment company have formally denied charges of "fee-splitting."

The physicians; the Precision manager, Raymond Williamson, were named defendants in a suit filed by the Arkansas state board of optometry in Pulaski Chancery court yesterday.

The board accused the defendants of conspiring so that the physicians got revates from charges Williamson made for manufacturing eyeglasses under prescriptions of the specialists. They also were charged with conspiring to set a layman (Williamson) up as an optometrist.

Last night Eugene Warren, attorney for the defendants, declared the suit was an "attempt to corner the eyeglasses business and smear reputable eye, ear, nose and throat specialists."

Warren said some of the physicians helped Williamson financially in organizing the business and received dividends on their investment. He denied there were any "kickbacks."

Hope, Rt. 2.

Branch Admitted: Willie Mac White Bodeav.

HONORS BOY SCOUTS—This brown, three-cent stamp honoring the Boy Scouts of America will be placed on first-day sale at Valley Forge, Pa., on June 30, the day President Truman opens the Scouts' national jamboree there. More than 47,000 Boy Scouts and their leaders, including 570 from 20 foreign lands, will camp for a week at the historic spot.

BOUNCED—Dr. Frederic Joliot-Curie, brilliant Nobel prize-winning scientist, was fired by the French cabinet as high commissioner of France's atomic energy program because of his Communist leanings. Decision to oust Joliot-Curie was made in a Paris cabinet meeting conducted by President Vincent Auriol.

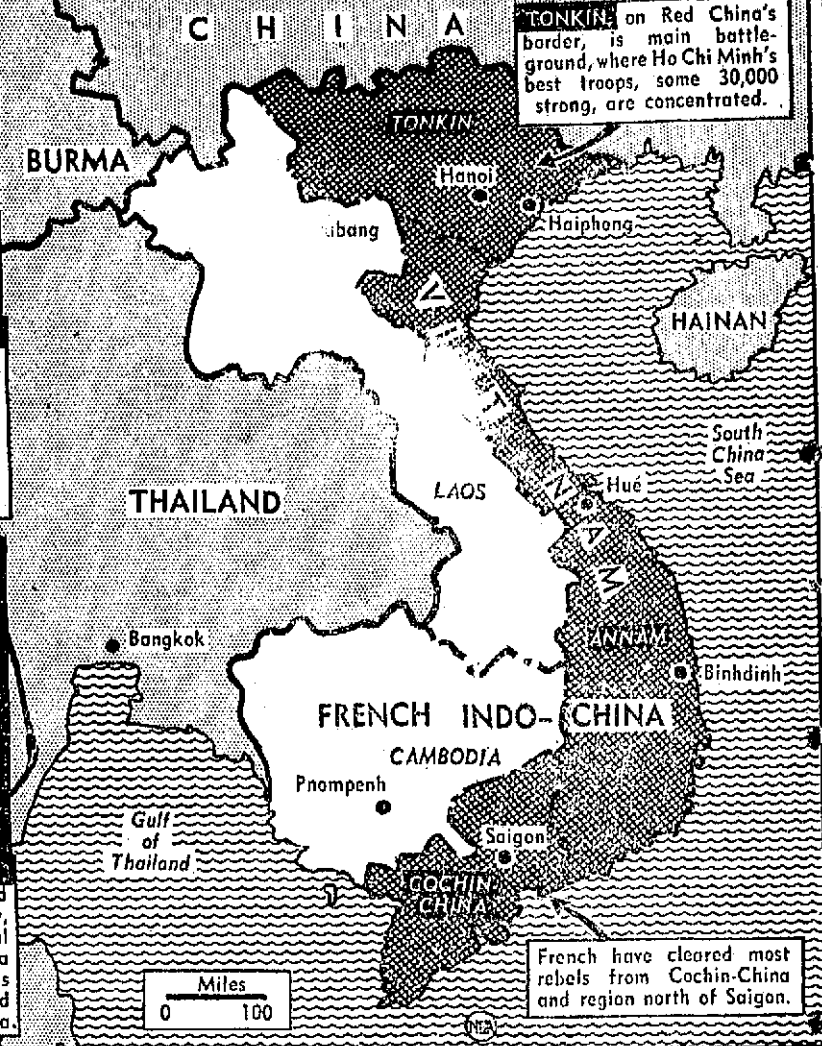

HEADS GERMAN POLICE—William Zaisser, above, a known Communist who fought on the Republican side in the Spanish Civil War under the name of "General Gomez," is the commander-in-chief of the East German "police force," according to British Intelligence reports. Western powers in Germany say the so-called police force actually is an army, and have demanded its disbandment.

BEST WAITRESS—Betty Jakubiec, 26, of Waukegan, Wis., won the title of "America's best waitress of 1950" during the convention of the National Restaurant Association in Chicago. Despite her proficiency, Betty hasn't been tipped for eight years because she works for a chain which bans tipping.

ANTI-COMMUNIST BAO DAI—former Annamite emperor, is backed by France, which installed him as puppet ruler after negotiations with Pro-Communist Ho Chi Minh's post-war Viet Nam Republic broke down in 1946. U. S. and Britain have recognized Bao Dai government but it lacks popular support.

U. S. TO AID FRANCE'S "HOT WAR"—The U. S. will chip in with military and economic aid in France's fight against Communist-led rebels in the Viet Nam area of Indo-China. That was Secretary Acheson's response to French Foreign Minister Schuman's S.O.S. at the Big Three meeting in Paris. Map shows where France has been fighting an all-out shooting war since 1946. Communist-trained Ho Chi Minh's 70,000-man army, pitted against 150,000 French regulars plus 50,000 native militia troops, has already cost France some 10,000 soldiers. In return for U. S. help in routing the $500,000,000-a-year bill, France promises independence for Viet Nam and other Indo Chinese states.

BUNNY BANQUET—Carrots appeared on the menu for the first time for these eight orphan bunnies, born seconds after their mother was killed by an auto. Mrs. Howard Moore of Denver, Colo., who took the youngsters in and nursed them to carrot-size with an eyedropper, is giving a milk ration to Runny-Bunny, who snubbed the carrots.

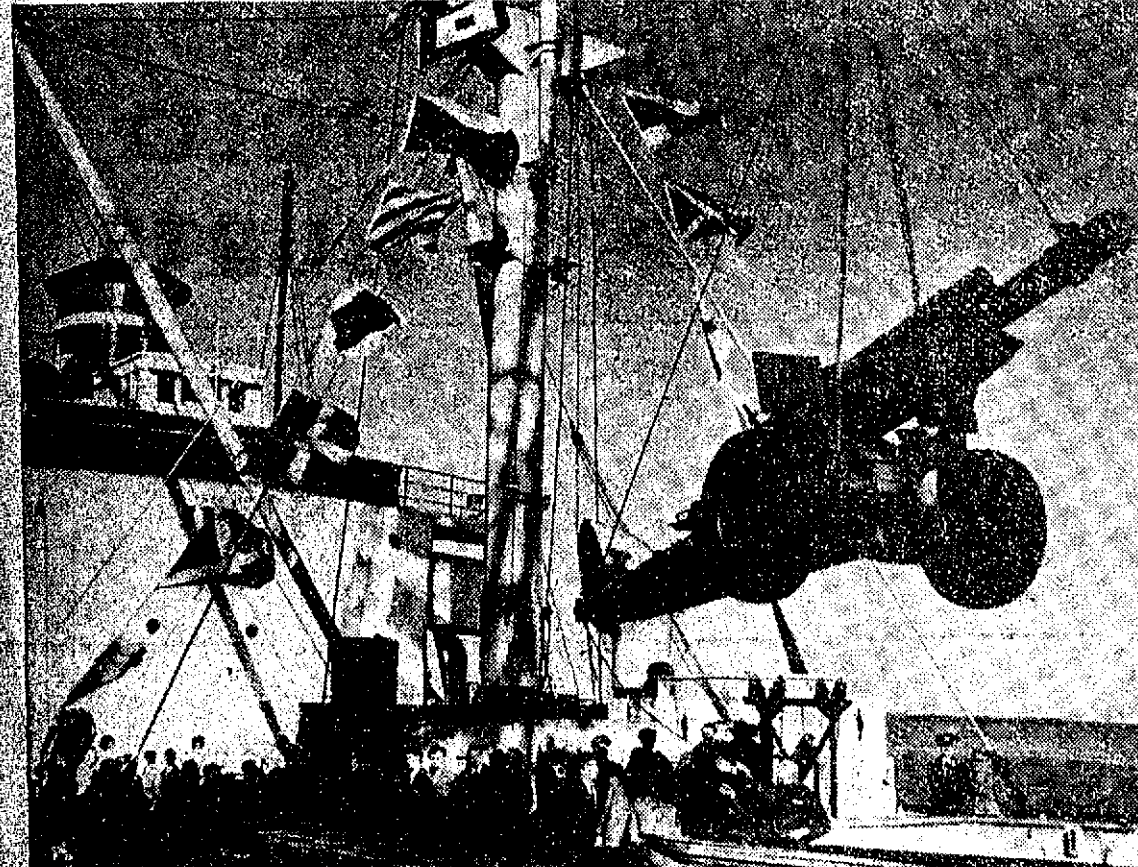

IN FASHION WHIRL—It was bound to happen. Singer Marguerite Piazza wears a "flying saucer" hat designed by Walter Florell in New York. The "saucers" look as if they might be battered down to double as ear muffs in cold weather.

RED IN BLUE—A member of the FDJ (Communist youth organization) in the Soviet zone of Berlin looks pretty cheery as she tries on the new blue uniform shirt she'll wear in the long-heralded Whitsuntide celebration in Berlin. Western Berlin police and military authorities are alerted against the Red youths' threat to "capture" the Western zones during the affair.

COMMAND POST—When disaster strikes, the Red Cross puts into action all the latest developments in transportation and communications. Above, G. H. Wade, disaster chairman of the Holt County, Neb., Red Cross Chapter, uses a walkie-talkie to guide Army weasels carrying fuel and food to isolated families during a prairie blizzard.

ATLANTIC PACT IN ACTION—While the "Big Three" foreign ministers of the top Atlantic Pact countries met in London to discuss ways to co-ordinate and strengthen their allegiance, the first gun from the United States to be shipped to Europe under the arms-aid program was hoisted over the side at Zeebrugge, Belgium. The shipment is part of a billion dollars' worth of military aid pledged by the U. S. to the defense of Western Europe.

HEADS MAYORS' GROUP—Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, Pa., is the new president of the U. S. Conference of Mayors. He was elected at the organization's New York meeting.

FIRE FIGHTER—Being set up at the scene of a Maryland forest fire is a new Red Cross mobile communications unit. The portable unit is equipped to take over during disasters when normal communications are not working. It is just one of many new gadgets the Red Cross uses in its never-ending battle against disasters.

COLOGNE AT WAR—Site of one of the bitter battles of World War II, Cologne, Germany, suffered extensive damage from aerial bombardment and artillery fire. The picture above was taken during the height of battle, as troops of the 104th Infantry Division moved into the battered town.

QUADS PERK UP SLEEPY EYE, MINNESOTA—Three tiny girls and one boy, born to farm couple, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Seifert, have brought the drowsy little town of Sleepy Eye, Minn., out about the most excitement it ever had. In Sleepy Eye's municipal hospital, above, nurse Mrs. Thomas Yetter looks over the quads, who are "doing nicely." The father, a former athlete and amateur baseball manager, said the addition of four to their previous six "sure creates some problems." He offered $10 to anyone who suggests the names used for the four, and said, "It looks like I'll have to do a little more farming and play a little less baseball."

ALMA MATER MOM—Commencement speeches about going out into the cold, cruel world held no terror for Mrs. Margaret Ann Landoll of Cleveland, O. Between feeding sessions for her eight-month-old daughter, Cherylann, Mrs. Landoll received her bachelor's degree in electrical engineering at Fenn College, Cleveland. The 20-year-old co-ed married Leo Landoll, also a Fenn grad, while midway through her college career. Now, she'll put aside her studies and concentrate on her "Ma" degree.

COLOGNE SIX YEARS AFTER—Much progress has been made in covering over the scars that war made six years ago, and a street corner that was once the scene of death and destruction is now one of peace and calm. As Cologne citizens move quietly about their daily affairs, evidence of reconstruction is on all sides.

'Francis' Is New Hit at Saenger

Donald O'Connor, after seven years of song-and-dance type movies, tackled a film in which he hasn't one song or dance number and in addition has an animal to steal scenes from him, in Universal-International's "Francis," opening Sunday at the Saenger theatre.

Few if any screen comedians ever have dared such an undertaking but young O'Connor had no fears, nor had his studio bosses. They felt that Donald is good enough as a comic to stand without such props as music and rhythm and to hold his own even in situations where a scene-stealing animal imperils him.

The animal in the case of "Francis" is a mule, and a clever one, and in addition to playing the title role in the picture the beast has the biggest part ever attempted by an animal in a movie.

Donald, who has been in show business since his cradle days, believes he has learned enough about the ins and outs of acting to steal a few scenes from the mule, despite the fact that animals are notorious as pilferers of scenes. The young star's performance in "Francis" justifies his belief.

"Francis" is Donald's thirteenth picture at Universal-International, where he became a star in the leading role in "Mister Big". This picture was followed by a succession of important films including "This Is The Life," "Top Man," "Chip Off the Old Block," "The Merry Monarchs," "Bower y to Broadway" and "Patrick the Great."

The star's career was interrupted when he was inducted into the Air Force in 1944. He served two years.

On the day he entered the service Donald married his 17-year-old sweetheart, Gwen Carter. They have a daughter, Donna, born August 1, 1946. Don wants to keep on acting until he can become a film director.

Heading the supporting cast in "Francis" are Zasu Pitts, Patricia Medina, Ray Collins and John McIntire. Arthur Lubin directed for Producer Robert Arthur.

14-Year-Old Sentenced for Manslaughter

Philadelphia, June 1 — (AP) — Pleading guilty to a charge of involuntary manslaughter, 14-year-old Thelma Lee was sentenced to an indeterminate term in the industrial home for women at Muncy.

Judge Louis E. Levinthal pronounced sentence after listening to the girl's plea yesterday in connection with the death of Donald Brown, 15.

Young Brown was stabbed to death last March 13 when he intervened in a fight between his sister, Rosetta, and the Lee girl.

Youth Falls 95 Feet, Escapes Virtually Unhurt

Morrilton, June 2 — (AP) — Harold Womack, 16, of Little Rock fell 95 feet down Cedar falls in Petit Jean State park yesterday — and was virtually unhurt.

Womack was walking along a path near the crest of the falls when he fell into the falls.

Others in the party ran to the foot of the falls.

Womack appeared. He was wet and shaken up but that's about all. He said he relaxed and held his breath and pulled himself up to the bank when he reached the pool.

In similar falls, three persons have drowned and two others were injured badly.

Four Found Guilty in Liquor Case

Memphis, Tenn., June 2 — (AP) — Four defendants have been found guilty by a federal court jury of possessing varying amounts of a $22,000 liquor shipment hijacked last New Year's eve. Two other defendants were acquitted.

The verdict brought in yesterday after an hour and 35 minutes of deliberation climaxed 15 days of the actual trial which was preceded by extensive federal investigation in five states.

Those found guilty are Gordon A. Tinsley, 41, of Louisville, Ky., John A. Pearson, 33; Horace Twitty, 33; and Napoleon Maxwell, all of Memphis. Two Memphians, William J. Harris, 60, and Anderson Haynes, were adjudged innocent.

The jury did not fix sentence. Defense attorneys said they will file a motion for a new trial. Judge Marion S. Boyd set a hearing on the motion for Wednesday and announced that sentence will not be pronounced until after the hearing.

Maximum penalty is 10 years imprisonment and $5,000 fine on each count charged. The charge against each man was that he had possessed at varying times, portions of the 540 cases of hijacked whiskey, with the full knowledge that it was stolen. Pearson, Tinsley and Maxwell were accused of having the entire shipment on Dec. 31, the day of the armed seizure.

Defense attorneys attempted to show that the cargo had not been hijacked, but that it had been delivered to Leo Terrell of Paducah, Ky., a liquor dealer, now deceased. Pearson contended that he bought the liquor from Terrell in good faith.

The case against a seventh defendant in the present trial, W. M. Pegram of Memphis, was dismissed last week on recommendation of prosecution attorneys.

Later trials will be held for David H. Glass, suspended Tennessee highway patrol lieutenant, and Frank Belluomini, 51, both of Memphis. Glass was granted severance because of illness and Belluomini because he had been a

Brother of Cuban Chief Is Defeated

Havana, Cuba, June 2 — (AP) — Antonio Prio Socarras, brother of Cuba's president, went down in defeat yesterday in the race for mayor of Havana.

Prio Socarras was beaten by Nicolas Castellanos, incumbent mayor. The Havana result was a sharp defeat for the national administration.

President Carlos Prio Socarras claimed overall victory, however, in nationwide parliamentary and municipal election contests. Sixty-six of the 138 seats in the lower house of parliament were at stake in the elections.

"Our parties have won a majority of the 66 seats in the house of representatives," he said, "as well as 100 to 110 of the 123 mayoralty races."

Castellanos, who became Havana's mayor more than two years ago after the suicide of Jose Manuel Supervielle, was backed by the small communist party and two other minority, anti-administration groups.

Rope of Sand Opens Sunday at Rialto

"Rope of Sand", Hal Wallis' newest production for Paramount, arrives next Sunday at the Rialto Theatre, bringing with it what is said to be more excitement than the screen has offered in a long time. Its excitement of story and action is matched by some of Hollywood's most exciting stars.

Burt Lancaster, Paul Henreid, Claude Rains, Peter Lorre and America's newest glamor girl, Corinne Calvet, the sultry Parisienne who makes her debut in this adventure-packed thriller.

The story is set in the colorful diamond country north of Capetown, South Africa and concerns the life-and-death determination of to locate a cache of diamonds, the hiding-place of which is known only to Lancaster. He portrays a former hunting guide who has reason to hate Henreid, the sadistic commander of the diamond

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

Copyright, 1950

By King Features Syndicate.

Clare Boothe Luce recently spoke in honor of the Empress Eleanor. Never conspicuous for glibness, I was shocked by his pitiful bid of a winning personality for one more day of publicity.

Her remarks were a mealy contrast to her previous discussion of Eleanor The Great in my presence and a reproach to the corrosive methods of her husband, Chinaboy Henry Luce. The most contemptuous commentary on the Empress that I have ever heard was astock story of Luce's in which she mocked The Gab's fatuous imposition on the politeness of these within sound of her voice to relate exhaustively that the buder sold a pair of Franklin's old shoes to the cash clo' man only to discover that "my husband," pronounced with that soaring whoop, had wanted them "soled," not "sold."

The occasion of this act of moral prostration was the bestowal on the graceless old profiteer in her country's passion of a badge called the gold medal of the Williamsburg settlement. You never heard of it nor me either, but Clare nevertheless remarked that "no award is more prized in this great city." This is one of a hundred or so petty political orders which are recurring pretenses for pheasant on toast, buckshot peas, ice cream, sweet nibbins and coffee, and for rejoicing in the banquet office of the Waldorf and other rude inns on the caravan trail to Moscow. The Gab must have a thousand of them by now, all conferred by "committees" and "boards" of letterhead entities with axes to grind for the benefit of pressure groups.

"Among women," Clare said by contrast to her detestation of expressed, "Mrs. Roosevelt is the best loved woman in the world. She is glad to meet anyone on the common ground of charity and anyone who wants to stand on that high ground is always lured to meet there the first lady of the world."

I would have to agree after this spectacle that Clare indeed is honored by such a meeting, but that is no fawning compliment to either.

"Short," she continued, "can in no short a time as ten minutes enumerate the many other reasons why Mrs. Roosevelt is so admired by her sex?"

This assumption of authority to speak for the sex is a little gaudy even for Clare. There is equal reason to say that millions of American women would be at loss for one reason to admire the subject.

"There are," she said, "some people who still refuse to admire Mrs. Roosevelt for any reason whatsoever. These are, for the most part, unhappy folk who have no higher concept of liberty and the right it gives them to heap personal insults on public characters with impunity. Such people often try to justify their malice by attributing to the characters whose public acts they dare not attack, the basest of private motives."

Mrs. Luce might have had in mind her spouse, the master smearer of his time, but surely a girl willing to live in splendor on public hatred by Chinaboy Luce Clare's inspired tribute to her mate of the devious manipulations of the profits of the vice she herself has burned the wick down searching for terms to measure his character and fallen far short of happy folk who have no higher concept of liberty than the right to heap personal insults on public characters with impunity. She ought to know.

She asked a little more forever, and she had a right to when she added that "honesty, if not charity, counsels all of us to refrain from judging the rest of us harshly." On the contrary, when fakers blandly conjure good citizens they serve wicked ends and are subject to suspicion of selfish motives. She might be feared, herself. When this woman parades Eleanor before the millions as a force of racial segregation and discrimination, she reminds knowing persons that the Empress fired all the white servants and hired Negro replacements not only in that citadel of her greedy political aspirations, the White House, but long before in her private home when Roosevelt was assistant secretary of the navy. A little petty friction below stairs was too great a price for this "first lady of the world" to pay for her principles. No protest came from her when her husband sold real estate at his Warm Springs speculation, sugar-coated over with the sweet pretense of charity, with a clause in the deeds

Most Cotton Loop Games Rained Out

By The Associated Press

All games except one were rained out in the Cotton States League yesterday (Thursday).

League-leading Pine Bluff and next-to-last Greenville played an afternoon game, Pine Bluff winning, 15-3.

The two also were to play a night game as the second half of a twin bill, but it, like the other scheduled contests, was postponed by rain.

Last night's games were to wind up series. Foes line up differently tonight.

Pine Bluff made 11 of its 15 runs in the first inning on nine hits and three errors. In all the judges batted out 20 hits.

Pine Bluff Pitcher Bob Pickens went the route and held Greenville scoreless until the seventh inning.

Tom Jones started for Greenville but was relieved by Manager Joe Rullo in the third.

Games tonight: Pine Bluff at Hot Springs Greenville at El Dorado Clarksville at Greenwood Monroe at Natchez.

Legion Fails to Hit, Waldo Again Wins 5-1

The Hope Legionnaires suffered their third consecutive defeat in Southwest Arkansas League play as they succumbed to Tulley Cook's five hit pitching and the Waldo Giants 5-1.

Against Cook Hope got only one man as far as third after the first inning when the Legionnaires scored their run. Gary Anderson lined out to Ab Fuller at second base to open the game. Leroy Ridling struck out on a wild pitch by Cook and was safe at first before Burleson could retrieve and relay to first. Ridling stole second and scored on a ground ball single between first and second by Buddy White.

The Giants broke loose in the second inning to go ahead to stay. Speedy Bradley lead off with a solid single to left, and later took second on a passed ball. Ab Fuller lined a smash off the right field wall for a double, driving in Bradley. Zolley Kimbell banged out a single, scoring Fuller. Horace Slayton was called out on strikes for the first out. W. R. Burleson beat out an infield roller and when the belated throw to first got away from Gunter at first, Kimbell scored. Burleson took second on a wild pitch and scored on a single by Bill Horn.

In the fifth Waldo wound up the evening's scoring. H. I. Watkins singled and came all the way around from first on a double by Ab Fuller in to left center field. Ross momentarily muffed the smash and Fuller advanced to third.

Tulley Cook was never in serious trouble as his mates had him in comfortable lead built up, but the Waldo right hander was strong all the way. He struck out seven and walked only two. It was his second win against one loss.

Tonight Hope plays in Legion Field against the Camden Krafts.

forbidding a forever thal sal of this soil to afros.

The remark that this cynical old politician is "among women in the world" is a personal opinion flagrantly insincere. It meets none of the unchallenged charges of historic perversion of power and greedy exploitation of office. It contradicts old comments by Clare herself.

"This has been a strange spectacle, but background knowledge tends to establish a moral community between the two and their spouses.

Ironically, the two women who in the last year have done most to hearten good citizens and at the worst cost in abuse by dark and hateful forces are neighbors whom Clare has jealously ignored.

One is Vivien Kellems, a fighter who looked her in the eye and made her quit politics and ran Chinaboy down the road as well. The other is Hester McCullough, who met Paul Draper and Larry Adler on the issue of loyalty and sent them yipping. There should be medals for the likes of these.

Southern Flag Hoisted at Nashville

By The Associated Press

The Southern association pennant is flying over Sulphur Dell, a short fenced park called home by Nashville's second division ball club.

The Vols hoisted the pennant Thursday night just before they squeezed by New Orleans, 9-8.

Six members of the team that won the flag are still around Sulphur Dell, remembering they were in fourth place when they hoisted a pennant last season but went on to finish on top.

Meanwhile, the league leading Atlanta Crackers eased by Little Rock, 7-6. Chattanooga took Mobile, 7-1, and Memphis slipped into second place by downing Birmingham, 8-4.

Harry MacPherson got the credit for Atlanta's victory although he was shotgunned from the hill in the eighth. Until then he had held the Rocks to three hits. In the eighth they pushed over five runs before Art Fowler dampened their ardor.

Memphis moved 2 into second place as Bill Wilson drove in enough runs to tie the ball game by himself. Wilson homered twice and smacked a double in his four trips to the plate. Altogether, the Chicks showered 14 hits on the usually powerful Barons.

In Chattanooga, the venerable Bobo Newsom went the distance to snap the Lookouts nine-game losing streak.

Nashville relief Pitcher Bob Schultz who won his own game. He knocked a long fly in the bottom of the twelfth to score Roy Peterson.

New Orleans had tied the score in the eighth with a seven-run rally, including a pinch-hit homer by Harry Fisher.

Friday night's games: Atlanta at Little Rock Mobile at Chattanooga Birmingham at Memphis New Orleans at Nashville.

Harold Hamberg Pulled From Burning Plane

Quonset, R. I., June 2 (AP)—A former University of Arkansas football player was one of two navy fliers who survived the crash of a twin-engine patrol plane in which nine others were killed here yesterday.

He was Lt. (J. G.) H. A. Hamberg of Lonohe, Ark.

AQS Harold (Hal) Hamberg, he played football for the University of Arkansas in 1940-41. After his appointment to the U. S. naval academy, he played with navy three years.

McCarthy Set for Another Blast

Washington, June 2 — (AP) — Senator McCarthy sidestepped the criticism of a group of Republican colleagues and made ready to fire a new Communist-in-the-government blast today.

The Wisconsin legislator told reporters the new attack would come in a speech which he said would ignore charges leveled by GOP Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine against "certain elements" of the Republican party. It was clear she was talking about McCarthy, for one.

McCarthy declined in advance to discuss his speech in detail. It was understood, however, that he intended to renew his criticism of the Democratic controlled senate committee investigating his charges there are a lot of Communists and fellow travelers in the state department.

Mrs. Smith addressed the senate yesterday just before leaving for Italy to serve as a delegate to a United Nations Educational, Social and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) conference in Florence. She blasted both Republicans and the Truman administration.

The senate's only woman member told her colleagues it is time to call a halt to what she termed "character assassination sheltered by the chief of congressional immunity."

Some of those McCarthy has accused of pro-Communist activities have challenged him to repeat off the senate floor the charges he made against them while protected by his immunity against libel action.

McCarthy sat nearby as Mrs. Smith spoke. Afterward he said he had no comment.

Mrs. Smith read what she called a "declaration of conscience" and said it has the backing of Republican Senators Tobey (NH), Aiken (VT), Morse (OR), Ives (NY), Thye (Minn), and Hendrickson (NJ).

The declaration asserted that the sponsoring group is concerned with "the growing confusion that threatens the security and stability of our country." It added:

"The Democratic administration has initially created the confusion by its lack of effective leadership, by its contradictory grave warnings and optimistic assurances, by its complacency to the threat of communism here at home, but its oversensitiveness to rightful criticism, by its petty bitterness against its critics."

The LONESOME BRIDE

By Grace Nies Fletcher Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: After Gloria Brown learned to bake apple pie in the apartment of Mrs. Benoni next door, she is involved in two murders and her husband is jailed. Gloria contacts Mrs. Benoni, who fled from her home as police sought her husband, and agrees to exchange the apple pie Mrs. Benoni baked for information to clear Gloria's husband. Meanwhile, Gloria's husband is in the pie. Meanwhile, Gloria's husband is in the pie. Meanwhile, Gloria's husband is in the pie.

THE rest of the day was the longest in Gloria Brown's 22 years which had seen a devastating depression, a World War, and an atom bomb. Nothing had narrowed her like this enforced inaction, because this time she was entirely alone. There was no mass psychology to buoy her up; these murders had blown up her own safe little world and she couldn't even start patching it up; she didn't dare try until after dark.

It seemed to her by 4 p. m. that already she was an old, old lady; she could almost feel her hair and teeth dropping out.

She shivered, remembering Sal and Jack the Cork. Why hadn't Hansen come by for his piece of pie? she wondered. Even if he were suspicious, he'd be better company than no one. Probably after being on duty all night, he was sleeping. Maybe he hadn't meant anything about the apples, after all, she thought; could be she had made a conquest. She made a wry little grimace. She'd know when she saw him next.

How was she going to make the Benonis tell what she had to know? Just how did one go about getting a gun? Did one have to have a permit? But there must be places to get hold of a gun without the police knowing.

"I'm developing the criminal mind," Gloria thought. "They say if you tell an infant often enough that he's a bad boy, when he grows up he'll rob a bank or something. I'm no child but ... Sammy!"

The little newsboy's adoring grin flashed into her mind like a beacon of light, for she knew that if it were possible for him to help her, he would do so; and ask no questions. She rushed to the phone, asked Reuben, "Is Hansen around, by any chance?"

"Why—er—yes," he stammered. "Tell him I got to go do some shopping," she told him eagerly, "but I'm going out the basement door to skip the reporters."

PROBABLY Hansen wouldn't come close enough to hear what she said to Sammy anyway, but if he did she could write Sammy a note and say what she had to. Might as well pretend to co-operate with the police, she decided.

"The basement, please," she told the elevator boy, glad the doors were opaque glass as they slid by the reporter-infested lobby. She held her breath when she got out, but there were no signs of either Hansen or the reporters. Was he maybe talking to them so she could get away?

There was no one in the basement except the head janitor and a blue-coated policeman sitting on rickety chairs and complaining of the heat. They hid something that smelled suspiciously of beer as she fled by but they did not try to stop her.

She heard Sammy's piping voice as she turned the corner onto Fifth Avenue, and when he came running up to her, his face bright at seeing her, she took the paper he held out, murmuring: "Flat-ties around. I need your help, Sammy. Where can we talk alone?"

"The Park," Sammy replied instantly. "But I gotta get rid of these papers first, Handsome. It won't take a minute."

Waiting for him on the curb, Gloria glanced at the paper in her hand and stopped breathing.

Plans Made for Next GI Dividends

Washington, June 1 (UP) — With 9 per cent of the checks paid out on the first postwar GI life insurance dividend, the veterans administration today was rapidly completing plans for the next one.

The big question still unsettled is the amount of the dividend that will start going out on Jan. 1, 1951, but one thing is certain. Officials said it will be far less than the one which has just been passed out to veteran and service policyholders.

The next dividend will take up where this one left off; it will cover the years 1949, 1950, and 1951. The first covered the period from the time the law was passed, from 1940 through 1948.

According to present plans, the dividend will be paid only to policyholders who have kept up payments on their premiums. The first one also went to veterans who had let policies lapse, covering, of course, only the time when they had been in effect.

The present dividend was paid out in lump sum checks under a priority system based on service serial numbers. Checks under the President of France to Visit U. S.

Washington, June 1 — (AP) — President Auriol of France will visit the United States next March.

The White House announced today that the French president and Madame Auriol are expected to come for a state visit in the second half of March, 1951.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said the visit will be in response to a long-standing invitation.

Twanging Sound Is Nerves of Gamblers

Washington, June 2 — (AP) — That twanging sound you hear is the nerves of big-shot gamblers and racketeers being jangled.

They got bad news yesterday. Their federal income tax returns may be opened to the senate subcommittee which is investigating crime and criminal tie-ups.

Senator Kefauver, Tennessee Democrat and committee chairman, said President Truman will let his group see the gamblers' returns.

Mr. Truman said later he left it up to the attorney general to see to it the committee got what it needed.

This is sad information for anyone mixed up in an illegal deal, whether it's gambling or some other racket.

The racket boys seem to have been careful in making their federal income tax returns ever since Al Capone got hooked for cheating.

So they may not get in trouble with the government even if the committee does see their tax returns.

But — on their federal returns they're supposed to be more or less a sacred secret with no one outside the internal revenue bureau ever entitled to see it?

That's not quite right. There are some situations in which people outside the internal revenue bureau have a right to look at your return.

It's the exceptions which are important. Congress, which passed the tax law, said no one outside the revenue bureau can see your return except:

1. The congressional committees — there are only three of them — which handle income tax matters. When these committees want income tax information from the bureau, they can demand it.
2. State officials who handle state tax matters. They can get a look at your federal income tax return — provided the governor of the state asks the bureau's permission.
3. Any stockholder — if he owns one or more shares of stock in a corporation — has a right to see his corporation's tax return.
4. And — at any time the President can tell the bureau to disclose your income tax return to any individual or group he says can see it.

The President doesn't throw this privilege around. An example is the fact that in this case he's telling the attorney general to decide what tax information to let the committee see.

But those are the only four ways in which an income tax return, once it's been filed with the government's revenue bureau, can be seen by anyone outside the bureau.

When Mr. Truman was a senator and headed the senate investigating committee which checked on war contracts, his committee got permission from President Roosevelt to see some contractors' income tax returns.

Admits Part in Plot to Oust Tito

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, June 2 (AP) — Hooknosed Vlado Dapcevic, a former colonel in the Yugoslav army, defiantly denied today a charge he committed high treason against his country, but admitted he plotted with Russian military men to help change the policy of Premier Marshal Joseph Tito's government.

He and former Maj. Gen. Branko Petrevicevic are on trial after nearly two years in prison. They were captured after a sensational escape attempt in August, 1948, during which one of their alleged fellow conspirators, Lieut. Gen. Arso Jovanovic, former army chief of staff, was shot and killed by a border guard on the Romanian frontier.

Dapcevic told a three-man court presiding over the trial, that "I think the charges (against me) are partly not right."

He said he did not feel guilty.

He told the court that he and Petrevicevic did not agree with the attitude of the central committee of Yugoslavia's Communist party after passage of the Russian-led common resolution early in 1948 denouncing Tito.

As a result, he said, they got in contact with the Russian embassy here to see what they could do. He said that Soviet Maj. Gen. Georgi Sidorovic, then the military attaché in Belgrade, assured them that their "attitude was right."

Dapcevic told the court he had informed Petrevicevic that he considered himself "a Soviet man ever since I joined the Yugoslav Communist party."

He added:

"We considered Sidorovic and all others (Russian) Embassy members as representatives of the central committee of the Bolshevik party, and knew that they would consult Moscow in connection with our approach."

FIRE DESTROYS MILL

Nancy, France, June 1 — (AP) — Fire destroyed last night a big paper and cardboard mill near here recently equipped with Marshall plan funds.

Damage at La Rochette paper and cardboard mill was estimated at about $6,000,000. The Rochette mill was the most up to date paper and cardboard factory in France. The new Marshall plan equipment had been put into service two days ago.
